Case of the Month:
Dr Kelly Keeps Things Rolling
with a New Take on a Peri-areolar Breast Lift/Mastopexy

A Breast Lift or "Mastopexy" is a cosmetic surgical procedure used to raise, reshape, and add fullness to sagging breasts. This procedure can also be used in combination with breast implants to enhance firmness and size. Our doctors specialize in several of the newest techniques, which leave minimal scars and ensure the quickest recovery.

A Periareolar Mastopexy is a breast lift done with only a scar around the areola. It is usually done in conjunction with a breast implant to give the breast more fullness. Most surgeons perform this operation with a purse string suture placed only along the outside of the wound. Unfortunately, this technique can lead to widened scars over time and stretching of the areola itself.

During the last few years, Dr. Kelly has been using an innovative technique which he calls the "spokes of a wheel". Imagine the spokes of a bicycle wheel and how they go up and down all the way around so that if they were pulled together or tightened, the center of the wheel would be perfectly even with the outer rim or wheel itself. The same principal is used in Dr. Kelly's Peri-Areola procedure. A donut shaped piece of tissue around the areola border is removed and the surrounding tissue is sutured to the areola in a "spokes of a wheel" fashion.

If you are interested in seeing pictures of the actual "Spokes of a Wheel" suture done by Dr. Kelly please email jodio@miamiplasticsurgery.com

As you can see the fine line where the skin and the areola meet is perfectly secure and once healed wil be left with minimal or no scarring.

Dr. Kelly is rolling with the times and always providing his patients with the most up to date techniques and the greatest results out there!

EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT: CHRISTINA GILBERT

Christina Gilbert, AKA Christy/Scanner Chick/Cafecito Girl, is this months Employee of the Month! Christina started at MPS as a temp in September of 2009 and became a permanent employee in the beginning of 2010. She came in with a great attitude, vivacious personality, and strong work ethic from day one. Which is why MPS decided to make her a part of their team.

When Christina was told she was voted employee of the month, and I asked her what she wanted to communicate to our readers, she responded "I am independent, single and ready to mingle, and I LOVE MY JOB!". As you can tell Christina is quite a charmer!!!!

Christina enjoys working with the team here at MPS and interacting with callers and patients on a day to day basis. "This best thing about working the front desk and answering the phone is listening to how excited people are to come into MPS and I am excited to be a part of their experience."
Patients Corner with Danay Busquet

I’ve been seeing Ana, my skin care specialist at Miami Plastic Surgery, for about a year now. I have a skin condition which is pretty common called Rosacea which causes my skin to become blotchy and red. When I first started seeing Ana I was skeptical and, of course, wanted immediate results. She assured me I would be happy with the outcome, but needed to give the treatments a little time to work. That being said I was very impressed with how quickly my skin responded to her expert care. I began with small facial treatments and peels that I combined with products such as the Obagi SunGard with SPF 30 and the Obagi Cleansers. My treatments and the products I purchase at Miami Plastic Surgery have done wonders for my skin. I have been very satisfied with the treatments I have received from Ana since I started seeing her but was even happier when she introduced me to the HydraFacial. I got immediate results and my skin redness and unevenness subsided for the get go. I ran out of some of my products last month and I wasn’t scheduled to see Ana for another few weeks so I bought some cleansers from the local store and immediately you could tell that my skin was not as glowy, even, and clear as when using the Obagi Prodcuts. I love MPS and Ana is my face’s hero!
