

THE MOST-BOTCHED PLASTIC SURGERY

“Without a doubt, it’s nose jobs,” says Miami facial plastic surgeon Carlos Wolf, M.D., who redoes several noses a week. To prevent a second take on any procedure, ask the surgeon for references (the before-and-after shots she shows you may have been done by another doctor) and make sure she has privileges at a local hospital so you can be reasonably certain that her credentials have been checked.